70% of people admit they use the same password for more than one account.

43% of adults have shared their password with someone.

31% of people keep track of their passwords by writing them down in a notebook.

65% of Americans don't trust password managers.

Using a password manager is far superior to other ways of keeping track of your passwords.

CR Consumer Reports reviews password managers to help you pick one.

Learn more at: www.staysafeonline.org